

Dear Families,
Don't forget to ask us
how we create learning experiences based upon what you have been doing on the weekend.

Educators recognise that families are children's first and most influential teachers. They honour the histories, cultures, languages, traditions and child-rearing practices of families so they can better support children in their care.