

A close-up profile photograph of a man's face, showing a significant chickenpox rash. The rash consists of numerous small, red, raised blisters and larger, more inflamed areas, particularly on the forehead, nose, and cheek. The man's eyes are closed, and his expression is neutral. The background is dark and out of focus.

WARNING

MAKE SURE YOU'RE IMMUNISED

Name: Matthew Stapleton

Condition caused from chicken pox contracted on the first day of working in childcare

We encourage all staff to be immunised